Extreme MakeOver: Molokai Landfill

Preliminary cleanup work completed by HMR's Lawrence Kalilikane, Mike DeOric, Alan Domingo, Joe Rivera, Raymond Kalilikane, Hugh Ishi, Josh Place The X-Team is ready to start the ExtremeMakeOver of the extremely over flowing Molokai Landfill.

For years it has been an eyesore and environmental hazard, attracting official violation notices for pollution, illegal UXO dumping, and a growing financial burden to Maui County taxpayers. Now it is finally being brought under control by a HAZMAT trained team of mostly Molokai residents working under a $1.77 million contract with Hawaii Metal Recycling to remove 6,500 tons of metal opala consisting of trashed stoves, water heaters, cars, gas tanks, refrigerators, trucks, construction equipment, scrap metals and tires. Joining in the massive job to remove the opala are truckers from Mako Trucking, Goodfellow Brothers, and several independent local truckers, making a total of over 500 trips between the landfill and the barge at Kaunakakai Wharf since Friday afternoon.

There will be at least two more barges loading up next few weeks to finish this massive job. Then there will be room for expansion of Phase III of the landfill.

[Note: The whole team worked until 11 pm Friday to keep the expedited pace, then took a few hours off to watch the Aloha Week Parade in Kaunakakai on Saturday morning before resuming the ExtremeMakeOver at Molokai Landfill]

The first barge load of scrap metals sailed out of Kaunakakai harbor behind the tugboat NALANI on Sunday afternoon. It looked like "the Big Island" with the two mountains of metal stacked on it as it left Kaunakakai Harbor, said Kalilikane.

Molokai's Kaimikaua Wins State Powerlifting Championship

BENCH PRESS & DEADLIFT Saturday, September 8, 2007...8 A.M. to 6:P.M. at Kamiloiki School in Hawaii Kai, Oahu. Men and women lifters from Oahu, Hawaii, Maui and Molokai -- close to 100 different weight classes and age groups competed. An estimated nearly 300 spectators observed the competition.

Hoolehua, resident Wilbert Kaimikaua won the state championship in two separate divisions: 1. MASTERS Ages 68 TO 74FIRST PLACE Weighed in at 208 lbs... Entered 220 lb. Class. 2. Law Enforcement MASTERS, Ages 56 and over. Weighed in at 208 lbs....Entered 220 Weight Class Kaimikaua attempted a STATE RECORD DEADLIFT of 385 LBS, WITH A BROKEN RIGHT FINGER ...Weight slipped out of hand with broken finger -- lift no good.

Will says his wife Deanna is strong for her age but is not interested in competing....She's my dietician.....and makes sure my priorities are where they should be....family first!

In 2006, Kaimikaua won the WAFDL State Championship for both divisions and also won the WABDL WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP IN BOTH DIVISIONS. ALSO BROKE STATE, NATIONAL AND WORLD RECORDS --- AUTOMATICALLY QUALIFIED HIM for the WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP in 2007 to be held at the ANAHEIM HILTON HOTEL across Disney Land. November 15 TO 20, 2007.....All days the meet begins at...8:30 A.M. and runs to about 9:00 P.M. Sometimes later, never earlier, since there are so many qualified lifters. Each day of the six competition days, different age groups different weight classes, men, women, teens and handicapped individuals compete.

Good Luck, in November, Go Wil!

DEAR CONGRESS: Pass the Read the Bills Act !

Congress-people, I am disgusted by your procedures such as the Senate's hotlining process. You should read and understand every bill before any vote, and bills should actually be voted on in both chambers. You gotta get under control, and support and defend the Constitution for the United States of America by being responsible about passing bills.

During the 109th Congress (2005-2006), 341 bills and joint resolutions were passed by the Senate. According to the Congressional Research Service, only 21 of those bills received a roll call vote on the Senate floor. That means 94 percent of law making measures that were passed through the Senate were passed by UC or by voice vote. A large majority of these were hotlined and therefore excluded from full and open debate and the amendment process. In the 109th Congress, 1,408 bills, resolutions, or nominations were attempted to be hotlined, with as many as 40 measures being hotlined in a single day.

Anti-Gun rights laws recently passed in secret is an example of their treasonous actions: the Leahy/McCarthy/Schumer bill, would rubber-stamp the illegal and non-statutory BATFE regulations which have already been used to strip gun rights from 110,000 veterans and other law abiding American Citizens. It would also allow an anti-gun administration to turn over Americans' most private medical records to the federal instant check system without a court order. The bill was hatched in secret, without hearings or testimony, and passed out of the House without even a roll call. And now, the sponsors are trying to do the same thing in the Senate -- in an effort to ram the bill through without votes or floor debate, led by anti-gun Senator Chuck Schumer. If it is good legislation, as its proponents claim, why such fears of a roll call vote or debate in committee?

A Senator may have a headache and call it a night, and when he returns to his office the next day he finds out he "consented" to a anti-gun rights bill like this, or a number of other bad bills ultra vires to Constitution he took an oath to defend and protect, but he knew nothing about. Calling the Senate a "rubber stamp" is an insult to rubber stamps. Instead, we should all join with Larry Pratt and Gun Owners of America to oppose McCarthy/Leahy/Schumer anti-rights gun control.

And it is we the people who suffer. We are the ones who must pay for the government's wasteful programs and obey its unnecessary laws. The least I expect is that our representatives in Congress read and understand the bills they pass. The least we should expect is that all bills actually come to a floor vote, and are not "passed" via telephone messages.

That is why you must pass the Read the Bills Act.
Pass the Read the Bills Act.
