Kilohana School Student's Art Goes to Hawaiian Telcom Phone Book

Hau'oli Caprida is a Kilohana Elementary School Kindergartener whose artwork pictured above placed in the top 25 for the Hawaiian Telcom Keiki Art Contest for Maui County. His masterpiece will now be featured in Maui County's Hawaiian Telcom Yellow pages, which will be distributed January 2006.

9-11-05 GAS STATION VIEW

These photos show that the Citgo Station provided an excellent unobstructed view of the Pentagon crash site. So why did the FBI confiscate the security tape just minutes after the 9-11-05 attack on the Pentagon, and refuse to let the public see what kind of airplane or rocket or bomb caused the side of the Pentagon to blow up in fire?

Station owner Velasquez says the gas station's security cameras are close enough to the Pentagon to have recorded the moment of impact. "I've never seen what the pictures looked like," he said. "The FBI was here within minutes and took the film."

America's Coverup Agencies, the FBI and the Pentagon, have fought tooth and nail against FOIA requests for the video tapes to prevent disclosure of what really happened at the Pentagon on 9/11. An FBI letter in response: A tape was found but release would interfere with enforcement proceedings.... located in an investigative file which is exempt from disclosure ...". [Hey, the public has a right to know the truth!]

FOIA actions against the FBI has the FBI claiming that the Virginia DOT tapes and the Citgo Station tapes were confiscated but not the Sheraton Hotel tapes. However, plaintiff Bingham interviewed Sheraton employees who verified the FBI confiscation of the hotel tapes that observe the area toward the Pentagon.

CNN reporter, Jamie McIntyre was the first reporter on the scene, McIntyre had his videos showing only a small hole in the Pentagon before it collapsed, confiscated by FBI, and a FOIA action failed to get the return yet.

An Air Force enlisted - senior enlisted man said that he was outside when it occurred. He said that he saw a helicopter circle the building. [It shows up in still photos] He said it appeared to be a U.S. military helicopter, and that it disappeared behind the building where the helicopter landing zone is, and he then saw fireball go into the sky. Other witnesses indicate that there was in fact a helicopter circling the Pentagon building, and that this helicopter disappeared behind the building, and that there was then an explosion, and they saw no airplane hit the Pentagon.

And what about the helicopter operating above the South Tower in New York before, during, and after the airliner impact. Karl Schwarz has verified that the South Tower airliner was a Boeing 737 not a Boeing 767 as alleged and therefore Flight 175 DID NOT strike the South Tower, contrary to the government's story.

Its a cover up of treason, plain and simple. SHOW US THE Citgo Station and Sheraton security videos and the DOT tapes, NOW! You fascist stooges!

U.S. Troops Don't Support the Constitution

by Jacob G. Hornberger

Every U.S. soldier takes an express and solemn oath to support and defend the Constitution. That oath, however, is a sham because the troops do not support or defend the Constitution. Instead, when it comes to war the troops follow another oath they take to obey the orders of the president, and they do this without regard to whether such orders violate the Constitution.

A textbook example involves President Bush's war on Iraq.

The Constitution prohibits the president from waging war without first securing a declaration of war from Congress. By waging war on Iraq without the constitutionally required congressional declaration of war, the president violated the Constitution.

Some people pooh-poo the violation, perceiving the Constitution as simply a technical document that can be violated whenever the president feels that "national security" or even the welfare of foreigners necessitates it. Some also make the claim that when Congress delegated its power to declare war on Iraq to the president (on the eve of the 2002 congressional elections), that delegation served as an adequate substitute for an actual declaration of war on Iraq.

They are wrong. Dead wrong. It is TREASON.

The Constitution is the supreme law of the land that we the people of the United States have imposed on our federal officials. Like it or not, U.S. officials are supposed to comply with its restrictions on power. If U.S. officials don't like a particular constitutional provision or if they feel that it is outdated, the proper remedy is to seek a constitutional amendment, not ignore the provision.

Moreover, the Supreme Court, which arbitrates constitutional interpretation under our system of government, has long held that no branch of the federal government can lawfully delegate its constitutional powers to another branch of government. Only the Congress, not the president, is authorized to declare war, and without that declaration the president cannot lawfully wage war on another nation.

We should bear in mind that had the president complied with the declaration-of-war requirement, the Congress might well have discovered in the process that the president's WMD claims were lies. The Congress might also have concluded that invading a sovereign and independent country for the purpose of "spreading democracy" a war in which tens of thousands of Americans and hundreds of thousands of innocent Iraqi and Afghanistani people would be killed and maimed could not be justified under moral principles.

"But we can't refuse orders of the president. He's our commander in chief," say the troops. "It's not our job to determine what is constitutional or not. We deployed to Iraq, like it or not, because the president ordered us to do so."

Setting aside the moral implications of that position, doesn't that mindset reflect that the oath that the troops take to support and defend the Constitution is in fact a sham? The troops know or should know that the Constitution prohibits the president from waging war without a congressional declaration of war. They also know that the Congress never declared war on Iraq. Nevertheless, they obeyed the president's orders to attack Iraq.

The president's war on Iraq reflects why our nation's Founding Fathers opposed standing armies. Members of a professional army, who have vowed to obey the orders of the president, are unlikely to say no when the president orders them to attack another country.

On the other hand, a nation that relies instead on well-trained citizens (i.e., citizen-soldiers, unorganized Militia exercising the 2nd Amendment right to keep and bear arms for the security) to defend itself from a foreign attack would stand in a different position. Citizen-soldiers, while willing and prepared to rally to the defense of their own country in the event of an invasion, would be much less likely to answer the president's call to leave their families and give up their jobs to attack a country thousands of miles away from American shores.

Isn't it ironic that, even as the troops waging war in Iraq exhort the American people to support them, all but a handful of the troops, by invading Iraq without the constitutionally required congressional declaration of war, have failed to support the Constitution?

[Editor's Note: And of those who have the courage to protest unconstitutional orders to War from their military superiors in order to uphold and defend the Constitution for the United States of America, the posse comitatus, and the Bill of Rights that guarantees us our freedoms and liberty and our sovereignty over this government, they are the real heroes and patriots, and the most deserving of our support while they are being persecuted with courtmartial, dishonorable discharges, prison, even killed by our own government.

"We have staked the whole of all our political institutions upon the capacity of mankind for self-government, upon the capacity of each and all of us to govern ourselves, to control ourselves, to sustain ourselves according to the Ten Commandments of God."—James Madison

It is way past time for all Americans to uphold and defend the Constitution for the United States of America against all enemies, foreign and domestic; and, it is way way past time to BRING THE TROOPS HOME, NOW!; and restore our God-inspired Constitutional Republic to protect life, liberty, and property of Americans that is enforced by the Militia who know the value of the 2nd Amendment.—The MAN]

Stroke: Emergency Medical Tips

Recognize a stroke by asking three simple questions:

1. Ask the individual to SMILE! .
2. Ask him or her to RAISE BOTH ARMS.
3. Ask the person to SPEAK A SIMPLE SENTENCE.

If he or she has trouble with any of these tasks, call 9-1-1 immediately get the victim to emergency room for treatment to prevent or minimize brain damage.

Non medical volunteers can identify facial weakness, arm weakness and speech problems, just by asking these three questions.

Widespread use of this test could result in prompt diagnosis and treatment of the stroke and prevent brain damage.

Molokai High Student Council

Aloha! From Molokai High School's Student Government

My name is Jaimie Casino, this year's 2005-2006 Corresponding Secretary. Our Executive Board feels that we should also inform our community on what's going on in our school.

Over the summer, we had brief meetings discussing activities and planned our school calendar for the year. In our high school gym, also known as the "Barn", we had our Freshmen Parent orientation on July 20th, discussing and informing them on what will be going on in our school and with the students. Also, this year's freshmen had their orientation on July 22nd, a tour of the campus, met their teachers and got to experience high school for the first time.

Our school year began on July 25th. For the first time, we had our Welcome Back assembly on the first day of school. I have to say, it went really well and I could tell many students, teachers and staff enjoyed themselves.

During the assembly, we introduced this year's new student officers. We got the fun started by opening up with a class cheer, to see who were the loudest and the most spirited. The seniors received 100 spirit points for the loudest cheer. Following that, we played the M game and Gimme Gimme. 50 spirit points were given to freshmen for winning the Gimme Gimme game and 100 spirit points to Team Faculty for taking the M game.

Our Welcome Back assembly was a blast. Can you just feel the competition? I sure can. Spirit points are awarded to the winner of each activity. Participation points are given to the non winning class during an activity. By the end of the year, the class that has the most spirit points wins the spirit plaque.

Last year the class of 2005 won most spirited and got their year on the plaque and I wonder, who it's going to be this year?

We recently had our very first recess activity on August 9th. The name of the game was "Hail to Thee". The purpose was to test the knowledge of each class including Team Faculty, on how well they knew our Alma Mater. It was a fun activity, although no one won, we hope that each class including Team Faculty got a better knowledge on our Alma Mater. Along with that knowledge, each class including Team Faculty got 10 participation points.

With many weeks of brain storming, our theme for this school year is "RISE UP". "RISE UP" simply means "R"-Relevant, "I"-Integrity, "S"-Spirit, "E"-Excel, "U"-Understanding, and "P"-Participation. The words we need to make this year fun, exciting and most of all memorable.

So in closing, we would like to say thanks to the parents, guardians, family and community members for all of your support and we hope that everyone will continue to get involved with our school. Much Mahalo from, "The Fighting Farmers" at Molokai High School

Sincerely, Jaimie Casino, Molokai High's 2005-2006 Corresponding Sec.

Homeland Security to Monitor A.O.L. Emails

Comment: If you are still using AOL as your internet provider or to host your website, you need to know that AOL is a shell for the corrupt actions of the criminal government usurpers. They care nothing for your custom.

The U.S. Department of Commerce (DOC) claims America OnLine is providing the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) "unlimited surveillance" of their members, according to the London-based Financial Reporter newspaper. According to a recently released DOC report, "AOL works 'closely' with the DHS to supply information on any AOL customer. It reportedly allows agents from these entities 'free and unfettered' access to AOL Hq. at Dulles, Va. for the purpose of 'watching over and keeping surveillance' ... on the millions of AOL customers."

The recent approval by Congress, of the Patriot Act extensions permitting "warrantless searches of persons and property," have apparently provided legal cover for this cooperation.

And the Reporter notes, "[w]hile information gleaned from delving into personal computer messages is supposed to be kept confidential, it appears that the DHS has exceeded their brief and obtained what appears to be strictly personal information which is then circulated to entities outside the DHS."

It also quotes the DOC report as stating that since "news of this surveillance has leaked out" it is "causing serious concern in the American and European business communities." However, the DHS has downplayed privacy concerns and claims companies are merely worried that their information will end up in the hands of competitors.

"We have staked the whole of all our political institutions upon the capacity of mankind for self-government, upon the capacity of each and all of us to govern ourselves, to control ourselves, to sustain ourselves according to the Ten Commandments of God." —James Madison

Bill of Rights 2nd Amendment:

"A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

Wake up militia! Use it , or lose it ! Got your gun, yet?

"...with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, or fortunes and our sacred honor." (Decl. of Indep.)

If you will not fight for the right when you can easily win without bloodshed, and, if you will not fight when your victory will be sure and not too costly, you may come to the moment when you will have to fight with all the odds against you and only a precarious chance of survival. There may even be a worse case. You may have to fight when there is no hope of victory, because it is better to perish than live as slaves.

Waiting for Right to KBA ?

Dear Senator Inouye, thank you for responds to my many e-mail on the gun control issue in your letter dated September 8th, 2005. I would like to point out some contradictions and errors in your letter.

First off you say you "believe it is possible to regulate the purchase and sale of firearms without contravening the Second Amendment" This statement is already a contradiction in terms. If regulations are placed on a right then permission must be granted and the right now becomes a privilege, violating the Second Amendment.

You then say "The Second Amendment of the U.S. Constitution does not bestow upon an individual the unqualified right to purchase and possess every type of weapon and ammunition for any and all purposes". Another contradiction in terms. If it is my "right" then why must I ask permission? Read: "A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed." (Second Amendment to the Constitution.)

It would be nice that if "gun control" measures did, as you say, "ensure that criminals and others who are statutorily prohibited from possessing firearms and are not able to purchase weapons and ammunition with ease", but this has been proven time and time again to be wishful thinking, just look at the gun control measures in Australia and what happened in the aftermath of their Nation wide gun confiscation.

It's funny that you use the Distric of Columbia as one of your examples, one of the murder capitols of the world, a clear result of violating the peoples right to defend themselves. If gun manufacturers and dealers should be held responsible for their customers actions, then should we not hold auto dealers to the same standard?

Your efforts to limit the sale transfer, purchase and manufacture of handguns and semi-auto weapons have been well documented over the years. Your support for a ban on so called "assault weapons" is a clear indication that the Government is affraid of the people and should be given the violations of the peoples civil libertys in recent years. One of the intents of the Second Amendment is to keep Government in check.

Now I also support the NICS instant background checks like they have in Alaska and certain other States. It does not infringe on my rights and is nearly a criminal background check. I encourage you to work with Hawaii's Gov. and anti-gun Police Chiefs in Hawaii to implement the NICS instant check in place of the 10 day wait period that does nothing but make it more difficult for law abiding gun owners to obtain firearms.

I had the fortune and unfortunate luck of being the son of a Honolulu Police Officer who was pro gun and taught me at a very young age about guns and gun safety. It is vital that we teach our children the truth about firearms and the American history behind the RIGHT and responsibility of ownership, but the anti-gun stance of the current empire raises many red flags with gun owners in America today and should be cause for concern. Sincerely, Joseph Rodrigues 808-990-0020

Crimes of Politicians Must Be Stopped by The People (You are The Militia)

The crime on our streets is a tiny fraction of the crime in the offices of our politicians and bureaucrats - the massive majority of crime is committed by the criminal classes in power. Just look at the constant abuse of power in our State government offices and you will realize the extent of crime in Government. Just consider just how many BILLIONS of dollars a day Government extorts from the people and how little WE get in return; and just how comfortable the politicians make themselves at the expense of the peoples they extort!

The goal of the founders of America was to restrict government within severe limits and to protect the rights of sovereign individuals. Government has NO rights! Judges are impeachable. Furthermore, judges may be removed immediately for violating oaths of office, involvement in conspiracies, extortion, and failing to uphold their duty to the common law. Judges can also be arrested, they are not exempt from this nor are any other officials, including the President of the United States.

Do the people have the power to do this? Yes, the people have the power to do everything to defend our country against all enemies foreign or domestic politician, and government has no power to say otherwise. Fascist bureaucrats might send out its armed marauders, but a huge group of The People (Militia) armed with guns as guaranteed their Right to keep and bear arms by the 2nd Amendment is likely to stop them unless the governments decide that it is time to begin mass killings of all people who believe in the rights of Man. Wake up ! Enforce the Bill of Rights !
