Federal Reserve Crooks linked to Police Exchange for Riot Equipment and Training from G-20, WTO, SPP, and AIPAC Gangsters and Abuse of Citizens

"The Money Masters" – a comprehensive, 3-1/2 hour, fast-paced historical documentary throws back the veil of deceit hiding the origins and operations of the corrupt banking plutocracy that owns and rules America and is gradually and clandestinely imposing a worldwide tyranny on the rest of us.

In 1913, President Woodrow Wilson approved the Federal Reserve Act. A few years later, he reflected:

"I am a most unhappy man. I have unwittingly ruined my country. A great industrial nation is controlled by its system of credit. Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the nation, therefore, and all our activities are in the hands of a few men. We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated governments in the civilized world – no longer a government by free opinion, no longer a government by conviction and the vote of the majority, but a government by the opinion and duress of a small group of dominant men."

"If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks....will deprive the people of all property until their children wake up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered....The issuing power should be taken from the banks and restored to the people, to whom it properly belongs."

This riveting DVD documentary "The Money Masters" covers the history of monetary reform from Roman Times to the present. It is packed with brilliant quotations and is absolutely the best production on the Federal Reserve available. Presented in layman's terms that the average person can comprehend, this set even includes a 16 page booklet containing the Monetary Reform Act.

Who was in charge of Police Violence at G-20 Meeting?

Where ever the G20, WTO, SPP and other international gangster organization go for their meetings, they send millions of dollars in "equipment and training" to the local police force in advance - and the resulting violence against protest demonstrators is always the same. Sadly, they can always count on the fact that at the top of most police forces they'll find a venal, corrupt "officer of the law" they can count on to brutalize his own fellow citizens in exchange for a pat on the back and some para military equipment and training.

The purpose of these unlawful police operations: to provide these elite financial control groups like G-20 and AIPAC with the cover they need to get their business done without public scrutiny and to demonize anyone who would dare question what they're doing to our economy and our freedoms.

It's always a bad scene, but Bill Blair has earned the title as the most contemptible man in North American law enforcement in the last twenty years.

public hearing is scheduled before the House Judiciary Committee in conference room 325 at the Hawaii State Capitol to review SB 1069, which establishes the offense of cruelty to animals by fighting dogs in the second degree, increases the penalty for cruelty to animals by fighting dogs in the first degree, and clarifies dogfighting and cruelty-to-animals laws. This bill has already passed through the Senate chamber.

There is nothing remotely "sporting" about sports that involve unwilling animal participants. For the animals who are forced to fight in them, these activities are no game—they are about survival. Even the "winners" emerge physically and emotionally scarred—and the losers pay with their lives.

Animals who are used in dogfighting are typically kept chained outdoors in horrific conditions with little or no shelter. They are starved, drugged, and beaten to make them aggressive. If they don't die in the fighting ring, the "losers" are killed by their trainers—often by being electrocuted, drowned, hanged, burned, or shot. Many others are abandoned to die slowly from their injuries.

Hawaii's long-suffering "fighting dogs" are counting on you. Legislation is often passed or failed based on comments from constituents. Your voice is needed! Please do the following:

Undersea cable bill advances Authorizes PUC regulatory structure, but FACTS are blowing in the Wind

A bill giving the Public Utilities Commission authority to move forward on undersea power transmission cable projects was approved by the House Finance Committee Monday.

Testimony about the proposal, House Bill 1176, has focused on the bill being premature -- no information on how much an interisland cable system would cost electricity rate payers, who would foot the bill via a surcharge on their electricity.

"The PUC needs authority to do a request for proposals, to see what the cost is really going to be," Rep. Denny Coffman, said Monday. Coffman is a member of the Finance Committee.

The cable provider as a partner won't be able to collect any revenue until electricity is going down the cable.

Rep. Hermina Morita, from Kauai, introduced the bill. "It may be in the public's interest that undersea transmission cables are installed by a nonutility investor that assumes financial responsibility for the project until it can achieve commercial availability," the bill said. "The purpose of this act is to establish the regulatory structure under which interisland undersea transmission cables could be developed, financed and constructed on commercially reasonable terms."

Only solar and wind energy generation are included in the bill as feasible means of energy production for interisland purposes. Coffman said he understood the bill was put together in light of plans to transport electricity from a Lanai wind farm to Oahu, and similar plans in other parts of Maui County. Geothermal energy, which is in production on the Big Island, could also be considered, as it is also a reliable source of energy for electricity, he said.

Projects on Lanai and Molokai have the potential to produce up to 1,500 gigawatt hours of electricity annually. The bill requires public hearings on each island connected by the cable system. Opponents filed testimony claiming the bill was drafted only to benefit the wind farm owners.

"At the very least, allow the public to vote on whether or not we want to pay an unknown amount for an undersea cable," Lanai City environmental science teacher Lisa Galloway said in testimony she submitted in early February.

Only solar and wind energy generation are included in the bill as feasible means of energy production for interisland purposes.

First Wind, just got a $117 million Department of Energy loan guarantee (Federal taxpayer dollars when they default) for the project, and Xtreme Power says it will be managing not only its new technology electrical power storage battery, but the entire wind farm's output via a home-built smart grid network. ("Home-built"? Another secret technology?)

Xtreme Power has tested a 1.5-megawatt PowerCell battery at the 30-megawatt wind project on the island of Maui. (And the results? Public? No reports of any kind any where.)

As with all new battery technologies, the proof will be in the deployments, with close attention being paid to how long, and for how many cycles of varying depths, the systems can operate before degrading. (In other words, Hawaii is being used to 'prove' a secret technology which has never been proven anywhere else. The fact that they chose a place with unanimous unquestioning politico/economic/media support for the project shows that they don't have much faith in it.)

Energy Storage Economics

Coe wouldn't give any price figures for the PowerCell, (Wow.) saying that costs vary too much from project to project, not to mention application to application. But Sam Jaffe, analyst at IDC Energy Insights, said that Xtreme has been targeting $500 per kilowatt-hour as a profitable price point for grid storage systems, though he expects the Hawaii projects to exceed that, given their novelty. (More than $500/kwh in Hawaii but the exact figure is secret. Notice how this is the one place where an outside analyst speaks CEO has promised NOTHING on price.)

As solar and wind power grow, they'll place bigger demands on the grid to absorb their on-again, off-again power. Experts including Energy Secretary Steven Chu say storage will play a critical role in the country's renewable energy growth, and DOE has targeted energy storage for $120 million of its $4 billion in smart grid stimulus grants. (More taxpayer dollars.)

Island grids pose particular challenges to integrating big amounts of wind power, Coe said. First, they need to clean up the power to grid quality through power electronics. Then, they need power to "up-ramp and down-ramp" through the times where the wind dies down and picks up again — a cushion of sorts against big fluctuations that would otherwise require firing up fossil-fueled generators. Most wind farms today have natural gas-fired power plants standing by to cover those fluctuations. (Actually, most utilities saddled with the requirement to accept this garbage electricity have to keep natural gas plants on line ready to fire up when the wind dies down.) Hawaii, on the other hand, generates 90 percent of its power from burning oil. (And HELCO will have to keep those plants running to take up the slack when the wind dies down.) How about decentralization?

Windmill Electric Molokai?

Basic Questions and Answers (Part 1)

By Steve Morgan

A quick disclaimer- I currently do not represent a position of support or opposition in regard to the proposed Wind Farm. My only intention of this series is to help our community in getting a basic understanding of this project.

Why is the State actively seeking to build windmills on Molokai?

The urgency to build a wind farm on Molokai originates with State Bill HRS 269-92, which mandates that the State of Hawaii replace 40% of its oil consumption by the year 2030 with renewable energy. Mandated intervals also require a 10% reduction in oil consumption by 2010 (which has been met). By 2015, renewable energy must reach the 15% level and by 2020 a 25% level must be reached.

Wind energy from Molokai and Lanai is recognized as a significant contributor to reaching these goals. According to Hawaiian Electric, the only other readily available source of renewable energy that could substitute the capacity of wind, would be bio diesel, both created domestically and imported. The cost of biodiesel however, would be expected to be considerably higher than that of wind power. The primary motive for the creation of HRS 269-92 centers around major concerns of rising oil prices and its impact upon our economy. In the last two years the price of oil has risen 119%. On Molokai, the primary source of our power is oil based. Even our ability to pump water is determined by the availability of oil.

How many windmills are being proposed for Molokai?

The number of wind turbines will range from a minimum of 56 to a maximum of 174 dependent on the total output size of the project (either 200 MW or 400 MW) and also dependant on the size of the turbines themselves which range from 2.3MW to 3.6 MW. For example-A total output capacity of 200 MW would require 87 turbines each with a capacity of 2.3 MW. If turbines with a capacity of 3.6 MW were used, the total number required would be 56 turbines.

Where will the inter island cable come on shore?

Although the final location of cable landing is yet to be determined, the three proposed sites include the areas of Ilio Point , Haleolono and Palaaau.

Is the cable safe/ Will the cable harm the reef?

Although further conclusions may result during the course of the EIS process, the impact should be minimal. A cable system with a rating of 400 megawatts is likely to require at least 3 conductors (power lines) bundled together into a single line, each conductor being 4 inches in diameter. Beyond the original settling on the ocean floor, which takes a few days, no further significant disruption should occur. No reports of human safety concerns have been reported in other areas of the world where similar cabling has been used. Keys to avoiding environmental damage include (1) The method in which the cable is laid (2) Avoiding highly sensitive marine environments. Many submarine cables exist between the islands.

Obama-net Digital I.D. Ordered as Congress Sleeps

Mr. Barack Obama, on January 8, 2011, stated that he had tasked our federal Commerce Department with the job of deploying a federal "Digital Identity" for every American and that Obama will require all Americans to employ the federal Digital Identity to use the internet.

Well, what is a Digital Identity and what does it do? In all electronic communications – whether such is in the form of sending or receiving email, visiting pages on the internet and even in cell phone conversations – there is the possibility of using what is called “encrypted communications”. The objective of encryption is to “jumble” the electronic information being passed from the sender to the intended recipient in such a manner that the information cannot be understood by an eavesdropper.

This “jumbling” is accomplished through electronic “keys” consisting of a private key and a public key.

Unless you hold the private key, you cannot read the encrypted information. Think of it as a modern, much more complex version of the old “secret codes” used in World War II and since, where different letters and numbers meant different things, so the message could only be understood by someone with a “code sheet”, explaining what the letters and numbers meant.

Obama is going to impose his will on all major internet communications companies and force them to use his code sheet so he can track everyone’s use of the internet. Obama wants the federal government to become the Big Brother, able to watch and read everything you do on the internet.

Thus, Obama wants the Commerce Department to hold a national “code sheet” that can be used to decrypt every bit of information that you – and every other American - sends, or receives, over the internet. If this is accomplished, you will have no private thoughts left.

If we don't act now, it will be too late and Obama will have literally placed a barcode on your forehead allowing him to follow you around the internet, watching everything your do! Act NOW before it is too late.

How will this be done? While it is a process that only takes milliseconds to complete, the technology behind it is complex. Obama will base his national digital ID on the fact that YOU will not be allowed on the internet unless you expose Obama’s public key through your browser (such as Microsoft’s Internet Explorer, Apple’s Safari Browser, or the Firefox browser) or your email client (such as Microsoft’s Outlook or Outlook Express or Apple Mail).

What sort of companies would come under such control? Any company that provides telephone service such as AT&T, BellSouth, and SBCGlobal Comcast, Cox Cable, Cablevision, Cable One, Charter Communications, Mediacom, RCN, Road Runner and Time Warner Cable would be included. These sorts of companies control over 1.4 billion email addresses throughout the world according to their own advertisements.

Between just these two types of companies regulated by the Federal Communications Commission, there is more than 100% control of American communications within Obama’s grasp should he succeed! You will have no place to turn where Obama-FCC is not reading your thoughts!

We as a nation must band together and force our Congress to stop this frightening power grab!

If, say, Google or Bing or Yahoo! cannot read Obama’s public key on your computer you will be denied internet access: you will not be able to browse the internet or send (or receive) email unless we, as conservatives, act NOW!

What can we do?

You can tell Congress that you want to stop Obama dead in his tracks... that you want to strip the Commerce Department of the power to carry out Obama’s nefarious tricks. We must prove to Congress that the American people want them to protect our privacy.

You can read this proposed bill by going to our Landing Page where you will find it at the bottom of the page. At the top is our request that you send Congress a demand letter that they protect your right to privacy.

Guns and The CPR Corollary: Saving Lives in time of Crises

What do guns and CPR have in common? Saving lives BEFORE the opportunity for effective intervention is lost! !

The CPR resuscitation failure time zone is a concept of CPR training. It is a time zone of futility once the opportunity for effective intervention is lost. It is a knowledge concept. Once that window of time has closed - a period of about four minutes without CPR - the likelihood of successful resuscitation is less.

In time of violence, there is an identical value I call the personal safety failure to use your gun zone, the moment of response when the window of opportunity to de-escalate a violent act is lost for lack of resistance with the superior force provided by your gun. Like CPR, once that window of opportunity has closed - a period of perhaps seconds - there is a zone of futility and chances of survival thereafter diminish greatly.

The CPR Corollary to 2nd Amendment right to keep and bear arms is especially suited to answer the question of why we are armed. The very first comparison, of course, is that both save lives in the absence of professional paid first responders such as Life Guards, ParaMedics & Doctors, or Police.

Guns used by responsible law abiding American Citizens save lives. Its a unique aspect of American Culture and our Bill of Rights that Obama hates.

Now, California is considering handing concealed carry permits to state legislators by an automatic approval process because they are legislators.

At the same time, legislators want more gun control laws against regular law abiding Citizens, notwithstanding the fact that the criminal minded people doing the armed robberies and murders do not let "gun control" laws stop them. Politicians completely ignore the other side of the equation, that is, lives saved by armed citizens defending themselves and others against criminals.

"There are nuts out there!" was the very same response Dianne Feinstein gave when she was asked about her own concealed carry permit for a high caliber revolver hand cannon.

I have news for Legislators: you are now experiencing the very same conditions most citizens experience, and the case for officials to carry concealed handguns is identical to our own case too long ignored by the Legislators who are now seeing it our way for themselves: being armed. If you believe in concealed weapons for yourselves, you understand the 2nd Amendment as we do, a Right.

Unfortunately, these Elites expect it to be understandable for them to obtain CCW permits with advance clearance while the rest of us are denied and jailed.

Either this special treatment is to be turned down so officials live like the rest of us, or we ALL get CCW permits. You get to carry yours, and we get to carry ours, otherwise you're making the unmistakable statement that we are not equal and that you're special.

As you may know, I work for the repeal of all gun laws. Servants come and go through terming out, retirement, being unseated and even recalled, but the people remain as the supreme authority. All gun laws - including having to show cause for a permit - is a challenge to our authority over the very servants who issue the permits. Besides, its a RIGHT, and Rights don't need no stinkin permit.

Bill of Rights 2nd Amendment:
"A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."
Wake up militia! Use it , or lose it ! Got your gun, yet?

"...with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, or fortunes and our sacred honor."

(Unanimous Declaration of Independence)

If you will not fight for the right when you can easily win without bloodshed, and, if you will not fight when your victory will be sure and not too costly, you may come to the moment when you will have to fight with all the odds against you and only a precarious chance of survival. There may even be a worse case. You may have to fight when there is no hope of victory, because it is better to perish than live as slaves.

"And how we burned in the camps later, thinking: What would things have been like if every Security operative [insert your favorite alphabet Gang DEA, BATFE, H.S., TSA, FBI, IRS, NSA, CIA, LEOs etc. here], when he went out at night to make an arrest, had been uncertain whether he would return alive and had to say goodbye to his family? Or if, during periods of mass arrests, as for example in Leningrad, when they arrested a quarter of the entire city, people had not simply sat there in their lairs, paling in terror at every bang of the downstairs door and at every step on the staircase, but had understood they had nothing left to lose [neither do you now] and had boldly set up in the downstairs hall an ambush of half a dozen people with axes, hammers, pokers, or whatever else was at hand. The Organs would very quickly have suffered a shortage of officers and transports and, notwithstanding all of Stalin's thirst; the cursed machine would have ground to a halt!" -- The Gulag Archipelago, Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn

Gun Rights Refresher

1. An armed man is a citizen. An unarmed man is a subject.
2. A gun in the hand is better than a cop on the phone.
3. If guns cause crime, then pencils cause misspelled words.
4. "Free" men do not ask permission to bear arms.
5. If you don't know your rights you don't have any.
6. Those who trade liberty for security have neither.
7. What part of "shall not be infringed" do you not understand?
8. The Second Amendment is to enforce the other 9 Amendments.
9. 64,999,987 firearms owners killed no one yesterday.
10. Guns only have two enemies; rust and politicians.
11. Know guns, know peace, know safety.
12. No guns, no peace, no safety.
13. You don't shoot to kill; you shoot to stay alive.
14. 911 - government sponsored Dial-a-Prayer.
15. Assault is a behavior, not a gun device.
16. Criminals love gun control -- it makes their jobs safer.
17. If guns cause crime, then matches cause arson.
18. Only a government that is afraid of citizens prohibits guns.
19. You only have the rights you are willing to fight for.
20. Remove the people's right to bear arms, you create slaves.
21. The American Revolution was about gun control.

Crimes of Politicians Must Be Stopped by The People (You are The Militia)

The crime on our streets is a tiny fraction of the crime in the offices of our politicians and bureaucrats - the massive majority of crime is committed by the criminal classes in power. Just look at the constant abuse of power in our State government offices and you will realize the extent of crime in Government. Just consider just how many BILLIONS of dollars a day Government extorts from the people and how little WE get in return; and just how comfortable the politicians make themselves at the expense of the peoples they extort!

The goal of the founders of America was to restrict government within severe limits and to protect the rights of sovereign individuals. Government has NO rights!

Judges are impeachable. Furthermore, judges may be removed immediately for violating oaths of office, involvement in conspiracies, extortion, and failing to uphold their duty to the common law. Judges can also be arrested, they are not exempt from this nor are any other officials, including the President of the United States.

Do the people have the power to do this? Yes, the people have the power to do everything to defend our country against all enemies foreign or domestic politician, and government has no power to say otherwise. Fascist bureaucrats might send out its armed marauders, but a huge group of The People (Militia) armed with guns as guaranteed their Right to keep and bear arms by the 2nd Amendment is likely to stop them unless the governments decide that it is time to begin mass killings of all people who believe in the rights of Man.

Wake up ! Enforce the Bill of Rights !

"A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed." Exercise the 2nd Amendment.

Koheo Wetland Spring Break cleanup March 19

Cleanup March 19, 7 am to 12 noon

The Koheo Wetland is utilized by Molokai's youth for environmental education. Students learn about hydric soils, and the plants, wildlife and aquatic insects inhabiting wetlands. Scientific equipment is used to evaluate water quality (pH, salinity, turbidity, dissolved oxygen) and GPS to create monitoring transects. Students grow native coastal plant species in the classroom for out-planting in the wetland.

Join students, family and friends, Nene O Molokai and Monsanto, and Goodfellow Bros. Construction to create a shady area under the kiawe trees for students to take breaks and eat lunch or just come explore the wetland. Bring water, snacks, gloves and a bucket. Trash bags & cans, rakes and small hand tools will be supplied. Want to get physical with your own equipment? Gas, oil and weed-eater string will be supplied. Make this a family outing and learn why students get so excited about Koheo Wetland. Call Arleone 553-5992 for more information.

Dear Editor about Taiwan

The zeal in which the media has taken sides for the freedom seeking masses, especially in Africa and the Middle East, begs the question as to their concerns about the good people of Taiwan. Here we have our Senator Kerry and the UN talking about military intervention into Libya and yet if China decided to invade Taiwan they would look the other way.

Why is the support of a Democracy, constantly threatened by the soon to be most powerful nation on earth, any less important than the people of Libya choosing to engage in an overthrow of tyranny? The Taiwanese people have already paid their dues for their freedom and it is time for the United States and the rest of the free-world to insist on a pledge from the United Nations to come to their aid while they still have any collective military and economic advantage. For the trend is that every day China grows more and more able to turn the Taiwanese people into slaves. That will be the darkest day in history.

Sincerely, Joseph DuPont

US Economy on the BRINK of DISASTER: BOND King Jumps Ship: US Dollar CRASH SOON

People know that our fiat money system isn't worth the paper it's printed on. It's only a matter of time until it all comes tumbling down. No society has ever made it past the 40-year mark once they decoupled their money from gold. The last time U.S. currency was backed by gold was 1971 ... 40 years ago. And look where we are today.

Things are about to get mighty interesting. In the next 12 months, the U.S. government somehow has to come up with 3.65 trillion dollars, just to pay the interest on the short-term treasury debt. Let's put "a trillion" in perspective. One million seconds equals about 12 days. One billion seconds equals 32 years. One trillion seconds? 32,000 years.

Gulp. See why our national debt is unsustainable? It's no wonder people are flocking to gold. The only way out of this mess is to print more money ... and the result of that will be hyperinflation, the likes of which this country has never seen before. People who have precious metals like gold will be among the very few with any wealth at all.

MAJOR development has occurred in the financial world in the last 48 hours. As usual the mainstream financial media has completely missed it. That "development" is the Bond King, Bill Gross, the single largest bond fund manager in the world has dumped ALL of his US Treasury holdings.

Hmmm. The single largest bond investor on the planet has ZERO exposure to US Treasuries right now. He's cleaned out completely.

What are the implications of this?

Bill Gross, with the possible exception of Goldman Sachs, has the best access to the US Federal Reserve and US Treasury Department of any investor on the planet. During the 2008 Crisis it was rumored the Treasury had him on "speed dial." So for Gross to be dumping ALL of his US Treasury holdings means that the US debt implosion is about to hit the markets... which means Treasuries collapsing, interest rates soaring and inflation going into hyperdrive.

You Can Protect Freedom: Question Authority!

"Where Rights secured by the Constitution are involved, there can be no rule making or legislation which would abrogate them." Miranda v Arizona, (1966)

WHY SO MUCH CORRUPTION ?

How did we get to this point that SPAWN of the DEVIL are in control on Capitol Hill? Could the People Be the Problem?

God gave us three institutions whose purpose is governing mankind: Family; Church; Civil Government

While these three are obviously separate institutions, they have interwoven functions such that, if one falters, the others are affected. There is a unity of purpose among the three that cannot be breached without all areas feeling the effect. With a 50% or better divorce rate, the family has suffered. The Church has become more interested in marketing goals than ministry needs. And our civil government is a reflection of both these breakdowns in the moral compass of the American people.

What Is the Goal of Government?

Would it surprise you to know that government is actually a ministry? That's what God calls it in Romans 13 from the New Testament. God calls the leaders of a people "ministers and deacons." In other words, they're God's errand boys. And in the exposition from Romans 13, the writer (the Apostle Paul) isn't talking about church hierarchy. He's speaking specifically of civil government.

However, that government should never attempt to take the place of God Himself. It should never try to usurp the role of sole arbiter over the lives of men. It should never attempt to wear the cloak of the Creator. If it does, that government will fall.

There has been a lot of debate in the Christian community about the role of Christians in the civil government and how we are to respond to civil government. Some people read Romans 13 and decide that we're to obey the government without question. However, that interpretation doesn't hold water. The author of Romans was in a Roman prison when he wrote this epistle to the Romans! He was in prison for preaching the gospel against the directives of the Roman government!

We must remember that in reading and interpreting Scripture, the first rule of thumb is that our interpretation must not be in conflict with any other passage of Scripture. There is a unity and cohesiveness to the whole of God's Word. God's Word clearly states that we're to have no other gods before Him, that it's His laws that we are to obey.

So when the Christian is in direct confrontation and conflict with the laws of the land, what is his response to be? The Christian and Civil Government is a wonderful theological treatise on Romans 13, and helps clarify the lingering question - are we directed to obey our government without hesitation in all areas? Is there ever a time when civil disobedience is actually obedience to the higher calling of God when we are in direct conflict with a corrupt, unbiblical and ungodly civil government?

Our country is spiraling downward, and it's up to God's people to stand up and make a difference. We're not talking about establishing some theological Christian caliphate. However, this country was founded on a Judeo-Christian foundation, and it's that foundation that is crumbling before our eyes.

We will always have a Congress that is a reflection of the people. When you look at today's Congress, is that the reflection you want to see? If it isn't, then it's up to you to transform that face.

Basic Questions and answers (Part 2)

By Steve Morgan

Why not use Solar instead of Wind Power?

This seems like a reasonable question given the amount of sun that we possess. The simple answer is that solar is considerably more costly. In 2008 a study was done by the Department of Energy to evaluate all alternative energy sources including utility scale solar farms and widespread use of individual roof top solar systems. In regard to both types of systems the cost was roughly double that of wind. A report demonstrating a comparable renewable energy analysis is expected to be released by the DOA in March 2011. This information will also be included in the EIS. Nevertheless, solar will play a part of Hawaii's energy portfolio as tax incentives and net metering encourage the development of independent systems. Furthermore, in the event that an independent renewable energy grid is established for Molokai, solar would be a viable option as one of the components of this system.

What measurable conservation efforts are being undertaken on Oahu?

Over the last five years, due to a combination of various factors including conservation efforts and a weakening economy, Oahu residential customers have cut their average electric usage by 7.2%. From 1996 through 2008 Oahu saw a reduction in oil consumption of 3.7 million barrels. Recent large scale energy projects on Oahu include a 30-MW wind farm on Oahu's North Shore and a 110 MW biofuel plant at Kalaheo. Plans are also in place for a second wind farm on the North Shore (Kawailoa) which will create an additional 70MW of power

Will Molokai be able to receive power from the proposed wind farm?

No, even a single windmill of this size would have too much output for Molokai's electric grid. Assuming the offer to be the same as Lanai, as part of a benefits package, HECO would establish an independent agreement in seeing that our island's electric utility would be 100% "green" by 2020. In the interim, what is being proposed by HECO would be to guarantee electric rates to Molokai at the same rate as Oahu customers. (approx 50% price reduction)

How long would it take to construct the wind farm on Molokai?

According to First Wind, actual construction would be accomplished within a twelve month period. Without complications, land rights, studies and permits would be accomplished by the end of 2012 and engineering completed by 2013. Actual construction would commence in 2014.

Does First Wind have land rights for the windmills on Molokai?

No and the track record thus far has been a resistance from Molokai Ranch to sell land. The tipping point in all of this may be the State itself which is taking a very proactive stance in fulfilling the requirements of HRS 269-92. Peter Nicholas, CEO of Molokai Ranch, recently acknowledged that the pressure from the government is such that if Molokai Ranch refuses to sell, there is a possibility that the State would condemn the necessary Ranch Lands through the process of Eminent Domain.

Basic Questions and answers (Part 3)

Unlike Molokai, land on Lanai has already been designated for the purpose of the wind farm. As a result, the process on Lanai has progressed further than that on our island. Referencing Lanai issues will hopefully help us in making evaluations for our own island.

How much land will the Lanai Wind farm require?

According to Castle and Cooke, the maximum amount of land that will be used will be 12, 800 acres.

What benefits are being offered to the people of Lanai in return for the construction of a wind farm on their island?

Based on the Jan 11 presentation given by Harry Saunders of Castle and Cooke, a basic summary of the combined benefits being offered to the Lanai community are as follows:

- Make Lanai utility rates the same as Oahu rates
- Make Lanai electric grid 100% green by 2020
- Maintain public access for hunting and fishing
- Infuse money into weakened tourist industry in order to maintain jobs
- Improve existing water infrastructure including $500,000 annual investment for improvements
- $250,000 annual investment into watershed preservation
- 1% gross revenue to establish community benefit fund for broad range of community projects, as decided by the community
- $100,000 annual investment to Lanai Cultural and Heritage Center
- Road Improvements

According to Mr. Saunders, these benefits would be included in a Purchase Power Agreement (PPA) making these benefits legally binding.

What is the response of the Lanai Community?

According to "Lanaians for Sensitive Growth" (LSG), a 25 year old community advocacy organization, complete support for the wind farm project is found only within a small percentage of Lanai Residents. Combining dozens of small group sessions, and a random survey of approximately 400 homes in Lanai, covering a broad demographic spectrum, the survey by LSG determined the following statistics:

7% in complete support; 23% support with reservation; 21% opposed
36% need more information; 13% ?

The official statement made by LSG at this time is "We do not feel that the potential benefits outweigh the environmental, cultural, social and economic impacts to Lanai and the community" At the Jan 11 Senate hearing, Reynold Gima, President of LSG, requested that the Senators at the meeting engage more fully with the Lanai Community, concluding "Do with us, don't do to us!"

Is there a Lanai governing body that will be involved in the decision making?

No, currently there is no such governing body. Using the county process, the intention of LSG is to designate land in the area of the proposed windmills to the zoning categories of "Open Space 1 and Open Space 2" According to LSG, through such a designation, the Lanai Planning Commission would have jurisdiction over some areas of the wind farm.

What are the sources of my information?

All of the material that I have provided in the content of these articles is directly quoted from the original sources. These include comments by the Department of Energy, HECO, First Wind, MPL, Castle and Cook, DBEDT and LSG. I have intentionally not reinterpreted any of their provided information. For an overview of the subjects covered thus far, I recommend reviewing the video recording of the Jan 11 Senate Hearing at:

What will the impact of windmills be on birdlife?

Estimates claim that wind turbines in the U.S. kill approximately 70,000 birds per year. Supporters of windmills would argue however that less birds are killed from windmills than that of conventional energy, with fossil-fueled power stations being responsible for at least 10 times more fatalities. The number of birds killed by wind turbines is also negligible when compared to the number that die as a result of other activities- 57 million killed by cars, 98 million killed by collisions with plate glass, and hundreds of millions killed by <<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Cat>>cats. An article in <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nature\_\(journal\))>Nature Magazine stated that each wind turbine kills an average of 4.27 birds per year. The <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/National\_Audubon\_Society>National Audubon Society in the U.S. takes a position of broad support for wind power to help <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mitigation\_of\_global\_warming>mitigate global warming, while cautioning against wind farms in areas especially critical to bird habitat.

What about visual impact? What is the proposed layout of the Molokai wind farm?

A preliminary design layout indicates that the proposed wind turbines will be out of the primary views of residences in Kaluakoi and Maunaloa. Turbines would be visible as far away as the airport when looking towards Mahana Ridge. The most evident visual impact however, will be found between mile markers 11 and 14 with windmills appearing intermittently on both sides of the highway, the larger number being to the north. It appears that somewhere in the proximity of mile marker 14, that the northern flank of windmills would cease while the southern flank would skip over Maunaloa town and reoccur towards La'au, at this point being the area of highest density. According to Pattern Wind, this is a tentative design which can be altered.

Will the windmills be visible at night?

Yes, the FAA requires aeronautical warning lights be installed on wind towers. Currently, technology exists whereas lights would not come on unless aircraft were actually in the area. This technology is currently waiting for FAA approval in the U.S.

What is the size and scope of proposed Molokai Wind farm?

Acreage required- 11,000 Acres
Number of windmills - 90
Distance between windmills in rows- 1/4 mile apart
Distance between rows- 1/2 mile
Total acreage of land actually used for windmills- (2 %) 220 acres
Height of windmill including blade- 436 feet
Blade length- 151 feet (Blade span 302 feet)
Size of Concrete foundation- 50 feet diameter/ 8 feet depth
Width of pedestal- 15 feet
Number of blade rotations per minute- 9-16 revolutions

ObamaCARE Supreme Conflict of Interest

The 1966 Freedom of Information Act guarantees Americans that their government cannot hide their actions from the people in matters that do not concern national security. Under this law, the Media Research Center filed a request for records from meetings Elena Kagan attended where ObamaCare was discussed; almost a year later those records have NOT been released.

This rogue Obama regime is doing everything that they can to hide the facts from the people, including ignoring federal law.

We're not going to let them get away with it!

CNSNews.com exists to chase down the stories the liberal media are ignoring or hiding. We wanted to pass along this short video from CNSNews.com's editor-in-chief, Terry Jeffrey; he explains why Elena Kagan could be barred by law from voting on the Constitutionality of ObamaCare. CNSNews.com has spent the last several months in Federal court fighting a coverup by Obama and how the liberal media are helping to hide damning facts from the public.
