Senior Enrichment Center at Home Pumehana is Blessed

For many years, Judy Mikami, William Akutagawa, Claire Iveson and Jim Callahan envisioned a facility serving long-term care patients and their families in a secure and comfortable setting. Now with the dedication on July 2nd of the Senior Enrichment Center at Home Pumehana, the vision is closer to reality. With the partnership of Na Pu'uwai, Arcadia Retirement Residence, and the Office of Hawaiian Affairs, the long process of paper work, planning meetings, approvals by the County and selection and training of staff brings the site to reality.

"Their mission: The Na Pu'uwai Senior Enrichment Center at Home Pumehana provides adult day care in a gracious and compassionate environment to nurture the spiritual, physical and social needs of each client." Program Director Jossette H. Mawae Mollena, CNAs Komela Horner and Valerie Starkey have planned a schedule of activities for clients Monday through Friday between 7:30am-5:30pm. They have planned a schedule of exercise, cognitive thinking, and sensory activities to maximize participants' quality of life, reduce functional weaknesses and increase Kupuna's capabilities.

Applications may be made to the Program, with completed forms, physical examination, current TB clearance, an assessment by the Program Director and a non-refundable $50 registration fee. Learn more about the rates and qualifying criteria by calling 553-5099 or visiting the site for an application packet.

This much needed facility, staff has the support of Judy Mikami, RN, MPH as nursing consultant, Na Pu'uwai executive director William Akutagawa, MSW, and Barbara Kelly, MD, medical director.

During the dedication program, MC Roy Horner, began by introducing the Ritte Ohana with their beautiful hula, "Mele Ohana."

Opening pule by the Rev. Maggie Duvauchelle was followed by introduction of the Arcadia Retirement Residence support team of Phillip Issacs, Emmett White, Francis Nishioka, Dianne Okamura. Speeches by OHA Trustee Colette Machado, Billy Akutagawa and Emmett White described the partnership of the three agencies. Judy Mikami reminded everyone that the project had its beginnings many years and meetings ago with community input, the closing of the MGH long term care facility and the encouragement of Claire Iveson program director at Family Support Center and Jim Callahan, now retired public health nurse.

Special guests Master's Touch from Honolulu Blessing by Uncle Reynolds Ayau assisted by his wife, Maryanne was a quiet, private service for the staff. Guests in the hall were entertained by the County Senior Services Program's ukulele and hula classes --- and a wonderful pa'ina and lots of fellowship --- a propitious start of a promising and Enrichment Program.

The Krazy for Kolea Kontest

Report the return of your kolea and win a prize. Include date, exact time, and location. The observer of the first CONFIRMED sighting will win a Kolea Research T-shirt from the Hawaii Audubon Society. The first ten confirmed observations will receive a gift certificate for a scoop of ice cream at Kamoi Snack 'N Go. In addition, any individual reporting a banded kolea will receive $20. The sighting and location of each banded bird WILL BE CONFIRMED for this prize.

Kolea banded on Molokai have a green or yellow band over a silver metal band. Also be on the lookout for birds banded with a combination of three color flags and one metal band. These birds were banded by Dr. Oscar "Wally" Johnson of Montana State University for a long-term life history study. Bird bands are read as if reading a book, that is, the bird's left leg top to bottom, then the bird's right leg top to bottom. Call Arleone 553-5992 or email researchbirds@yahoo.com. Contest winners will be announced at the end of September.

FACTS: The fall migration of the kolea, the Pacific Golden-Plover (Pluvialis fulva), is about to begin with birds returning from breeding grounds in the Alaskan tundra. The earliest arrivals are typically females - those that may have experienced a failed nesting attempt or perhaps did not bond with a mate for the breeding season. Adult males normally appear by the end of August, followed by juveniles in October. The kolea is easily recognized by its bold black & white breeding plumage called 'alternate', however these feathers are lost by winter when the bird molts back to 'basic' brown. Kolea are long-lived (20-plus years), territorial and annually return to the same grounds: Many Molokai residents have named their distinguished winter guests and note arrival and departure dates on calendars. Sightings are collected at Nene O Molokai and emailed to Dr. Peter Pyle, ornithologist, who then compiles the information for the Bishop Museum's database 'The Birds of the Hawaiian Islands: Occurrence, History, Distribution, and Status'

The kolea is a swift flyer, performing an incredible non-stop transpacific migration to Hawaii in about 40 hours at speeds averaging 56 - 60 miles per hour. Some birds continue on to points as far south as Australia or as far away as Madagascar. In Hawaii the winter range of the kolea can include pastures and cultivated fields, coastal salt marshes and mudflats, the grassy borders of airport runways, athletic fields, golf courses, and residential lawns. The kolea spends most of its daylight hours foraging and can be recognized from a distance by its peculiar feeding behavior of run-stop-run. Nighttime roosting sites are Molokai's coastal fishpond walls or rocky points, parking lots, roof tops or other areas where distance visibility is good and predators can be easily sighted.

Kolea on their northern migration may have aided ancient navigators with the discovery of the Hawaiian Islands, and the bird figured prominently in Hawaiian folklore: it was considered to be the embodiment of the god of healing, Koleamoku, and a messenger of high chiefs.

New Taxes for Hawaii

The Aloha State, already sporting the nation's sixth-highest per capita tax burden, decided to ignore its overspending problem and steal more money from the private sector, that's YOU and ME.

The tax increases implemented yesterday include:

A $60 million tax increase on hotel occupancy. Yes, a state with an economy entirely reliant on tourism will now make it more expensive for people to visit. A five day vacation in a room that costs $175 per night will be over $80 more expensive. Just when we thought Hawaii couldn't get any more liberal, we are now likely to see a spike in the number of people sleeping in hostels.

A 2000 percent increase on the barrel tax levied on petroleum products. Democrats in the legislature claim this will go to environmental protection and clean energy, but a full 60 percent of the revenue is headed to the general fund to finance a number of spending projects. In the meantime, penny-pinching consumers now have to fork over more money to government every time they fill up their gas tank. Electricity bills are on the rise as well.

A 40 cent per pack cigarette tax increase. This tired refrain continues yet again in Hawaii. The state now sports the nation's fourth-highest cigarette tax. This is nothing more than funding ongoing expenditures with a declining revenue source. Fact: There will be another budget hole because of this bill.

Reinstatement of the death tax on estates valued at more than $200-K. Hawaiians who started businesses, paid employees, and offered goods or services that people wished to pay for will now be taxed when they die. Never mind the fact that they paid taxes on property, sales and income their entire lives. Now, starting at $200,000 of their estate, successful Hawaii residents and their benefactors - family, charities, churches - will be double-taxed for dying.

To put it simply, the Hawaii Legislature is in need of drastic change. Democrats control the Senate 23-2 and the House 45-5. They have shown no interest in addressing the serious problems the state has with government spending. None. Until the makeup of state government changes, Hawaii won't have a reason to celebrate future Fiscal New Years.

U.S. Supreme Court Upholds

“...the right of the People to keep and bear arms shall not

“Fundamental” Right to Guns

Gun ownership rights of the People as stated in the 2nd Amendment were upheld again in Monday's U.S. Supreme Court Ruling, and supporters of the Constitution for the United States of America have hailed the ruling as a victory. This is the first time the US Supreme Court has offered a clear definition of national significance of the 2nd Amendment's guarantee that right of the People to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed, and orders the lower federal appeals court to reconsider its ruling - leaving little doubt that the Chicago laws will eventually be overturned, and Hawaii's chapter 134 HRS challenged.

In McDonald, v. Chicago, (08-1521) the ruling makes it clear that this does not mean that all laws governing gun ownership in America are immediately void. But Justice Samuel A. Alito, Jr. in the Court's main opinion did make unmistakably clear to lower court judges that the right to have a gun for self-defense in the home is a "fundamental" constitutional right; and that the Second Amendment right of the People to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed applies equally against the federal government and the states.

Bill of Rights 2nd Amendment:
“A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.”

Wake up militia! Use it , or lose it ! Got your gun, yet?

"...with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, or fortunes and our sacred honor."

(Unanimous Declaration of Independence)

If you will not fight for the right when you can easily win without bloodshed, and, if you will not fight when your victory will be sure and not too costly, you may come to the moment when you will have to fight with all the odds against you and only a precarious chance of survival. There may even be a worse case. You may have to fight when there is no hope of victory, because it is better to perish than live as slaves.

"The people cannot delegate to government the power to do anything which would be unlawful for them to do themselves."- John Locke

"Those who make peaceful change impossible, make violent change inevitable." -- Robert F. Kennedy

Enforce the Bill of Rights !

"And how we burned in the camps later, thinking: What would things have been like if every Security operative [insert your favorite alphabet Gang DEA, BATFE, H.S., TSA, FBI, IRS, NSA, CIA, LEOs etc. here], when he went out at night to make an arrest, had been uncertain whether he would return alive and had to say goodbye to his family? Or if, during periods of mass arrests, as for example in Leningrad, when they arrested a quarter of the entire city, people had not simply sat there in their lairs, paling in terror at every bang of the downstairs door and at every step on the staircase, but had understood they had nothing left to lose [neither do you now] and had boldly set up in the downstairs hall an ambush of half a dozen people with axes, hammers, pokers, or whatever else was at hand. The Organs would very quickly have suffered a shortage of officers and transports and, notwithstanding all of Stalin's thirst; the cursed machine would have ground to a halt!" -- The Gulag Archipelago, Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn

Gun Rights Refresher

1. An armed man is a citizen. An unarmed man is a subject.
2. A gun in the hand is better than a cop on the phone.
3. If guns cause crime, then pencils cause misspelled words.
4. "Free" men do not ask permission to bear arms.
5. If you don't know your rights you don't have any.
6. Those who trade liberty for security have neither.
7. What part of "shall not be infringed" do you not understand?
8. The Second Amendment is to enforce the other 9 Amendments.
9. 64,999,987 firearms owners killed no one yesterday.
10. Guns only have two enemies; rust and politicians.
11. Know guns, know peace, know safety.
12. No guns, no peace, no safety.
13. You don't shoot to kill; you shoot to stay alive.
14. 911 - government sponsored Dial-a-Prayer.
15. Assault is a behavior, not a gun device.
16. Criminals love gun control -- it makes their jobs safer.
17. If guns cause crime, then matches cause arson.
18. Only a government that is afraid of citizens prohibits guns.
19. You only have the rights you are willing to fight for.
20. Remove the people's right to bear arms, you create slaves.
21. The American Revolution was about gun control.

Crimes of Politicians Must Be Stopped by The People (You are The Militia)

The crime on our streets is a tiny fraction of the crime in the offices of our politicians and bureaucrats - the massive majority of crime is committed by the criminal classes in power. Just look at the constant abuse of power in our State government offices and you will realize the extent of crime in Government. Just consider just how many BILLIONS of dollars a day Government extorts from the people and how little WE get in return; and just how comfortable the politicians make themselves at the expense of the peoples they extort!

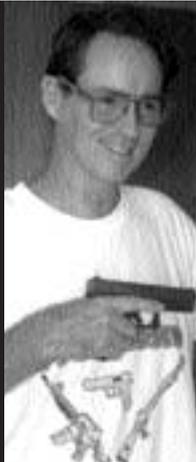

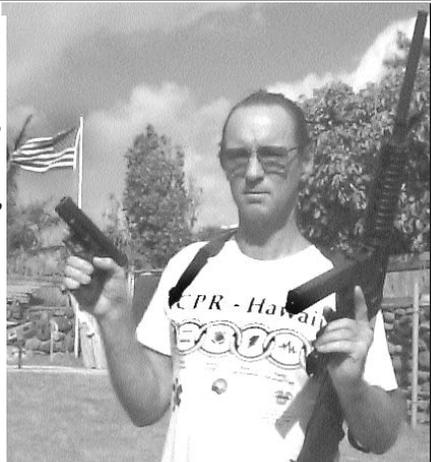

The goal of the founders of America was to restrict government within severe limits and to protect the rights of sovereign individuals. Government has NO rights!

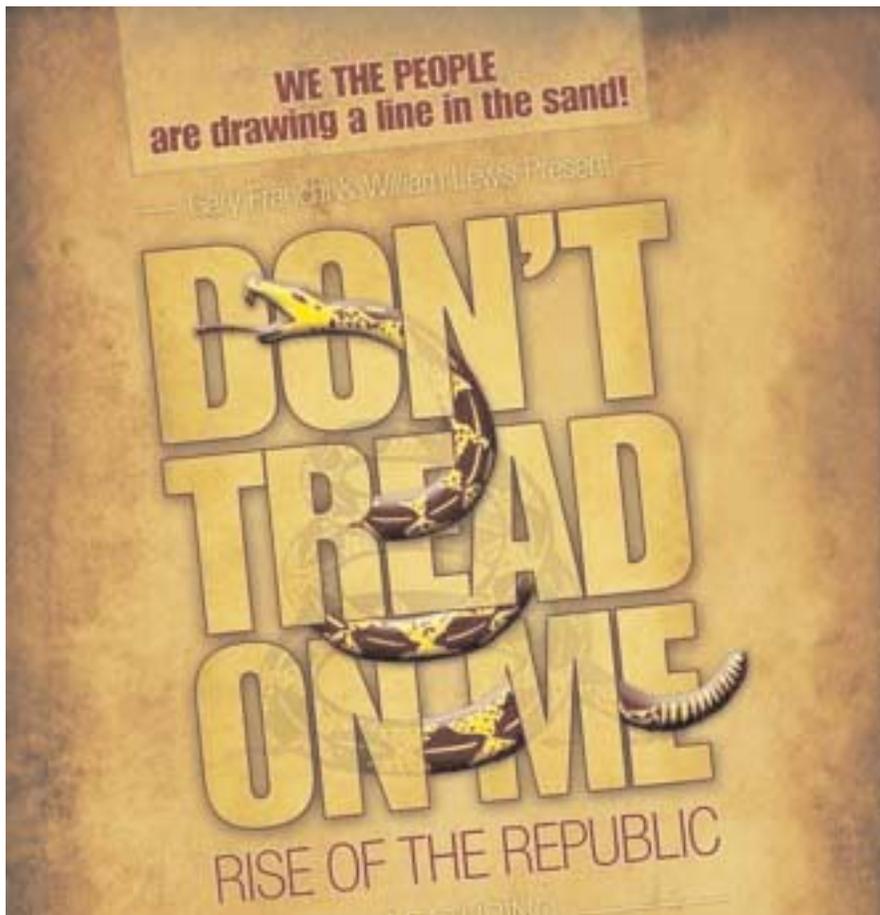

Judges are impeachable. Furthermore, judges may be removed immediately for violating oaths of office, involvement in conspiracies, extortion, and failing to uphold their duty to the common law. Judges can also be arrested, they are not exempt from this nor are any other officials, including the President of the United States.

Do the people have the power to do this? Yes, the people have the power to do everything to defend our country against all enemies foreign or domestic politician, and government has no power to say otherwise. Fascist bureaucrats might send out its armed marauders, but a huge group of The People (Militia) armed with guns as guaranteed their Right to keep and bear arms by the 2nd Amendment is likely to stop them unless the governments decide that it is time to begin mass killings of all people who believe in the rights of Man.

Wake up ! Enforce the Bill of Rights !

What can YOU do about Obama Treason

Under the Obama regime, more than ever, there is a general decline in respect for the Constitutional limits on government powers. Obama, Lingle et al must be chained down to stop the taxation, debasing of our economy. Our Constitution is the envy of oppressed nations around the world because it limits the federal government to certain basic functions, e.g., national defense and ensuring a free market across the nation, while protecting liberties that enable us to plan and live our own lives, under rule of law, free from government interference. Now Obama is trying to make federal government the source of endless free goods and services. Makaala! A government big enough to give you everything you want is powerful enough to take everything you have and give it to someone else. The highest taxes in history are coming starting January 1, 2011.

AKAKA Bill for Hawaiians Fizzles

The Akaka bill might get a US Senate vote this year, but the new version fizzles the separatist dreams of some Native Hawaiians because the Hawaiian government entity authorized by AKAKA would NOT have sovereign authority, nor will it be exempted from State and County regulations.

The Akaka bill would allow Native Hawaiians to form their own governing entity to negotiate with the U.S. Government. It is a political redundancy because all United States Citizens have 1st and 2nd Amendment rights and other Constitutional rights to organize and govern themselves anyway they choose, and to negotiate with the feds who are merely servants to The People and are supposed to uphold and preserve the Constitution for the United States of America to preserve the Freedom and Liberty of all United States Citizens in the 50-states including Hawaii. The People are Sovereign in this Great Republic.

The Native Hawaiian Government Reorganization Act [AKAKA bill] might get a vote in the U.S. Senate this month, now that Lingle has agreed to support it with major changes in the language that prevents Hawaiians from exceptions to normal State of Hawaii laws.

Linda Lingle now supports the AKAKA bill, after secret negotiations with Hawaii's senators, Daniel Inouye and Daniel Akaka who support the bill. "We sat down and worked together and now we've come to this great day. Everything is in line now," said Senator Inouye. "I'm delighted. I'm optimistic and it brings about a united front," said Senator Akaka.

"So these amendments make clear that the state retains the full authority to regulate to protect public health and safety and also make clear that this bill do est provide anybody immunity from any criminal prosecution, we think those are good changes, they address our concerns and with these changes we can fully support the bill again and we are very happy about that," said Mark Bennett, Hawaii Attorney General.

Hawaiians will be recognized by the feds as indigenous people.

The Akaka bill passed the U.S. House in February.

If it passes the Senate, it would go back to the House for a final vote. And with the Obama's support, it's possible the measure could become law this year.

OHA joined in the cacophany circus with this press release: "We commend the members of Hawai'i's congressional delegation, Sen. Akaka, Sen. Inouye, Gov. Lingle, Attorney General Bennett and the Obama Administration for agreeing to work together to ensure (Native Hawaiian Government Reorganization Act) moves a step closer toward successful passage. Thanks to their leadership and vision, the Hawaiian people will have a process for a government-to-government relationship to speak with a collective voice and greater political strength to protect our lands, our culture and our way of life," Office of Hawaiian Affairs Chairwoman Haunani Apoliona said.

AKAKA Bill will allow Native Hawaiians status as a tribe, as they are the last remaining indigenous group in the United States to be recognized as such as are Alaska Natives and Native American Indian tribes.

Police Abuse Powers Ordering and Threatening Homeowners from fighting Brush Fires Near their Homes

Oahu—Tense moments in Kalama Valley : When the flames are getting close, do police have the authority to make you leave? Legally, Hell NO !@

That's the dilemma that prompted a shouting match between a bully cop and a resident who was fighting a brush fire with a garden hose on Kalina Place. When flames grew, the cop threatened Robin Bond, Jr. to come down the hill.

Bond the officer threatened him. "He said you're right, I can't arrest you but I'm still going to drop you to the ground and drag you down this mountain."

Bond finally came down, only because he feared he'd get assaulted by cop.

The Honolulu Police Department (HPD) admits they can't arrest someone who's trying to save their property, or another life, even if they're in harm's way. As for other disasters, like hurricanes or floods: "We cannot force them to evacuate from private property," said Peter Hirai, Deputy Director of the Honolulu Emergency Management Department. Emergency leaders urge the public to heed their warnings. But the ultimate choice is up to individuals.

"It blew me away that there was this possibility that someone thought they had the authority to tell me I can't try to save my home," said Bond.

Kilohana School - Mana'e's Pride Celebrates 75 years of Education

July 3, 2010, a Ho'olaulea featuring entertainment, food booths, games for the keiki, craft booths, and a Kilohana History Room display began the day-long celebration of the East End school's 75th Anniversary.

Gem Miguel and her auntie Linda Miguel Place with Milton Place and his sister Didi Kaakimaka, former student and singer Melveen Leed's mom.

Former students, faculty and staff from near and far came to renew acquaintance, reminisce with friends and teachers and see the changes to the historic campus. Among the more than four hundred who registered the Ho'olaulea and evening Luau, were families who have attended or worked for three generations. The Bicoy, Dudoit, Duvauchelle, Kalilikane, and Place ohana were among the large family groups represented.

As she looked through photographs and scrapbooks in the History Room, Auntie Presca Bicoy Medeiros reminisced about the successes Kilohana graduates have accomplished. The school has grown from K-8 -- from a campus with Future Farmers club with livestock and gardens to an internet connected elementary school campus still with a garden and federally certified playgrounds.

The evening program was a well-paced program of short speeches, introductions of former principals by current principal Richard Stevens, and entertainment by the Moana's Hula Halau, Helm Brothers, Melveen Leed accompanying a Mana'e-style Luau-- made it a truly Kilohana Ohana event.

In the Kilohana Hisotry Hall, Fred Bicoy, before his awesome trumpet performance, Evelyn Bicoy, 5th grade teacher, Ronald Sagario, custodian and others poured over photo albums. of the rich history of events, including Kilohana's award as the Best School.
